

> Help

The ELO Repository makes the metadata from collections owned or managed by Electronic Literature Organization easily accessible to visitors.

Visitors can search for a work or a group of works via the Search Bar located on the Main Page using the following terms: creator, contributor, title, date, language, keyword, type, funder or collection.

Visitors can simply browse Collections by selecting one of the eight Collections listed Main Page.

* Note that metadata for works vary on information currently available.

Visitors can also browse by selecting “View all collections” on the Main Page, and then choosing a Collection to explore on the Collections Page.

* Note that many web-based works are hosted in the ELO Archives and, so, are available to visitors via a hyperlink from the ELO Repository. Keep in mind that those works requiring software and hardware no longer available will not currently be accessible to visitors.

We have worked to make this information obvious where possible. Future plans for the ELO Repository includes adding to the Collections, developing a system for ensuring provenance of works and collections, finding missing metadata for individual works, and making more works accessible via the web and emulation technology.